

Church management software built in Ghana, around how a denomination actually works

Members, Bible classes, attendance and giving recorded in your church's own words, with the statistical return your circuit asks for already filled in. Cash first, mobile money optional, and built for a phone on a weak signal.

THE PROBLEM

Church software built abroad assumes card giving, a single independent congregation, and a connection that never drops. It has no idea what a circuit is, a society, a catechumen, or a quarterly return to a superintendent. Churches buy it, use a tenth of it, and keep the paper register anyway.

WHAT IS IN THE PRODUCT

- Digital Giving. MTN MoMo, Telecel Cash and AirtelTigo alongside cash, settling into the church's own account.
- Member Management. One register for the whole church, searchable from a phone, in your denomination's words.
- Branch Management. Headquarters over regions over districts, each keeping its own register, figures rolling up.
- Communication. Birthday, welcome and thank you texts, sent in the church's own name rather than ours.
- Financial Management. Tithes, offerings, funds and the figures your circuit asks for, in cedis.
- Leadership Management. Pastor, secretary, treasurer and class leaders each with a login and a role.
- Groups and Cells. Bible classes, fellowships, cells and societies, each with its leader and members.
- Attendance, returns and insights. A service marked in one save, the return printed or saved as PDF, and quietly dropping attendance surfaced early.

WHY IT IS DIFFERENT

The money	Giving is paid directly into the church's own settlement account. It never passes through Fold's balance, and we take nothing from what members give.
The structure	Six denominational structures modelled against each church's own published material: Methodist, Presbyterian, Pentecostal, Anglican, AME Zion and Baptist. Branches to any depth, with oversight from above that is read only.
The security	One church cannot see another's records, enforced by the database rather than hidden behind a menu. Giving is visible only to leadership. Every change is logged, and nobody can edit the log.

WHERE THINGS STAND

Live at getfold.org, built and supported by Manuel Technologies in Ghana. Mobile money giving is proven with real funds: a live gift settled into a church's own account while Fold's balance stayed at zero. Churches are being invited onto the thirty day free trial now.
